The Lobbyist Registrar will produce an annual report summarizing complaints, investigations and advice and will make recommendations for any improvements to the accountability process.

The Lobbyist Registrar has the power to investigate complaints and to impose sanctions if lobbying activity has not been disclosed, or if an individual has contravened the Lobbyist Code of Conduct. Should the Lobbyist Registrar impose a sanction, it will be in the form of a temporary ban on communication. Notice of the temporary ban will be circulated to Members of Council and Town Staff and posted on the Town's website.

Sanctions could be applied along the following incremental scale:

- For a first breach, the Lobbyist is banned from communicating with public office holders for 30 days

- In the event of a third breach, the Lobbyist Registrar has the discretion to determine an appropriate sanction

Should the Lobbyist Registrar determine, when conducting an inquiry, that there are reasonable grounds to believe that an individual has contravened a provincial Act or the Criminal Code of Canada, the Lobbyist Registrar shall immediately refer the matter to appropriate authorities and suspend the inquiry pending the outcome of any resulting police investigation.

Members of Council, Local Boards, Committee Members and Town Staff are bound by their respective Codes of Conduct to refrain from communicating with individuals who have been found in contravention of the Lobbyist Registry By-law.
